BCM Major Sponsor in Wight Farm Business Expo

BCM were a major sponsor, with the Institute of Agricultural Secretaries and Administrators (IAgSA), Natural England and the AEA, for the 2011 Wight Farm Business Expo this month at the Cowes Yacht Haven Conference centre.

Over 25 local businesses exhibited, including accountants, solicitors, major banks, machinery dealers and agricultural suppliers. There were a range of presentations, all on topical subjects relevant to the agricultural industry. These included James Attrill from BCM on 'The Future of the Single Payment', Esme Shakestaf with 'A tax update for Rural businesses', and Paul Baker from Lloyds TSB on 'How a banker makes a lending decision – Lending is a Science not an Art!'

Farmers were encouraged to bring soil samples from their farms for advice on the new 2010 Soil Protection review which was one of the workshops held during the day, the other on cross compliance inspections and the new rules for sheep identification.

With over 70 farmers attending, as well as other interested members of the public, the day was considered a great success.

For more information contact James Attrill on 01983 731348.
