BCM Employee Gains Distinction Across the Board

Michael Papps, recruited by Bays Curry McCowen (BCM), an architectural and rural asset management company, has excelled himself in the recent exams he has taken. In the first year of this National Certificate Building Construction course at Highbury College, he gained distinction in all four first year exams.

Michael has a great track record in work experience prior to joining BCM, starting with qualifying as a tool-making engineer with six years experience, backed up with several years with Marvin & Partners drawing up land surveys and elevation drawings. He is also a qualified Autocad operator with two years operational knowledge, and now looks to be well on his way to his goal of becoming a professional architect.

James Fraser, Partner at BCM, said “ We are delighted that Michael has done so well , particularly at a time when the architectural department of BCM is so busy. It is a tribute to his determination and hard work!”

BCM is based at Sutton Scotney and can be contacted on 01962 763900
